Although many of the brick houses along this side of Warren Ave. were enlarged and remodeled after the Civil War and are now three stories in height with shed roofs and bracketed cornices, most were built in the early 1840's as two and a half story, late Federal style houses. 120-122 Warren Ave. still retains the two and a half story form. 102-104 Warren Ave. were built (and remain) two story plus attic, two bay wide houses.

This three story structure with shed roof represents either an enlargement or replacement of the original 2 1/2 story brick house which was built on this site in the early 1840's, and formed part of a group of such houses which extended along this side of Warren Ave. The 2 1/2 story house that originally occupied this site was the easternmost unit of a pair of houses at 112-114 Warren Ave. A two story high, 4 bay deep rear addition connects to the 3 story, 1 bay deep stair hall extension of the main house.

The house is three stories in height, 15' wide, and occupies a lot about 84' deep. The original brickwork has been covered with formstone. The wooden cornice that probably at one time capped the shed roof is gone. There is a hooded chimney located along the east end wall of the main house and a rear end chimney located at the north end of the kitchen addition.

The original appearance of the lintels and sills has been hidden by the formstone covering. All of the window openings are filled with late 1/1 sash behind modern storm windows. A modern panel door is surmounted by a single light transom. The house sits on a high basement, the entrance being reached by a flight of four stone steps with a modern iron railing. A square-shaped co. opening is located to the right of the steps.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

See under 112 Warren Ave.

The first owner of the original 2 1/2 story house on this site was William Preston, a blacksmith.¹ After the house was enlarged it was sold to a James H. Cook, a grocer and commission merchant on Light St. wharf, who lived here from 1870 through the 1880's.²
